What's your husband's work?

Does he have to do anything as hard as your washing and scrubbing? It can't be. What can a man do that's as hard, for most men, as this constant house-drudgery is, for most women? If he has any sympathy for you, tell him to get you some Pearline. Sympathy is all very well, but it's Pearline, not sympathy, that you want for washing and cleaning. Nothing else that's safe to use will save you so much down-right hard work at the washtub or about the house. It saves money, too—saves the ruinous wear on clothes and paint from needless rubbing.

MAN WANTS BUT LITTLE HERE BELOW

of that sort of Clothing that's made just to fit a low price, or of the good kind that has to bring a GOOD price simply to float a name. But what HE DOES WANT is RELIABLE FABRIC, tailored as fashion best knows HOW, finished in the top o' style, and priced so he can see HIS MONEY'S worth peeping out at him from every seam.

HE WANTS THAT LITTLE BAD

enough to go the SECOND time to the house that gives it the first time. It's this policy that makes ours the safest place in the town to buy Clothing. You have to pay in other stores $12 50 for the same Clay worsted suits we'll sell you for $10 00, or $7 00 for the same all wool Victory suit marked in our store only $5.00. If you have a boy you can buy him a washable suit as low as 50 cents, a double breasted Cassimere suit for 93 cents, a good all wool suit for $2 00, and a suit good enough for any boy to dress up in, made with double seat and knee, of the best fabrics, $3 00, Ball and Bat thrown in. You had better look at these suits. They are cheap and so dressy that when that boy of yours sees one

VERDICT IN PREBLE CASE

The Jury Awards the Plaintiff Over $35,000

BOSTON, June 16. In the United States district court today before Judge Holt the jury in the case of Preble vs Henry N. Bates and L. C. Bates Walley, which has been on trial for the past week, returned a verdict of $35,075 for the plaintiff.

The case was first on in October, 1888, when judgment was found for the plaintiff. Exceptions were sustained before the United States supreme court which ordered a new trial.

Sarah A. Preble, of Portland, Maine, widow of Judge Preble of the supreme court of Maine, is the plaintiff, and the defendants constitute the firm of Bates & Walley, stock brokers of this city. She discovered $23,000 with interest for 14 years, the amount of some stocks and bonds alleged to have been misappropriated.

Counsel were given thirty days in which to file exceptions.

TAKE STEPS in time if you are a sufferer from that scourge of humanity known as consumption, and you can be cured. There is the evidence of hundreds of living witnesses to the fact that, in all its early stages, consumption is a curable disease. Not every case, but a large percentage of cases, and we believe, fully 98 per cent are cured by Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery even after the disease has progressed so far as to induce repeated bleedings from the lungs, severe lingering cough with copious expectoration (including tubercular matter), great loss of flesh and extreme emaciation and weakness.

Do you doubt that hundreds of such cases reported to us as cured by "Golden Medical Discovery" were genuine cases of that dread and fatal disease? You need not take our word for it. They have, in nearly every instance, been so pronounced by the best and most experienced home physicians, who have no interest whatever in misrepresenting them, and who were often strongly prejudiced and advised against a trial of "Golden Medical Discovery," but who have been forced to confess that it surpasses, in curative power over this fatal malady, all other medicines with which they are acquainted. Nasty cod-liver oil and its filthy "emulsions" and mixtures, had been tried in nearly all these cases and had either utterly failed to benefit, or had only seemed to benefit a little for a short time. Extract of malt, whiskey, and various preparations of the hypophosphites had also been faithfully tried in vain.

The photographs of a large number of those cured of consumption, bronchitis, lingering coughs, asthma, chronic nasal catarrh and kindred maladies, have been skillfully reproduced in a book of 160 pages which will be mailed to you, on receipt of address and six cents in stamps. You can then write to those who have been cured, and profit by their experience.

WILL BE FAST ONES.

Navy to Have Three Sea Going Torpedo Boats.

The Almost Incredible Speed of 26 Knots to be Attained.

Dimensions and Description of the Boats to be Built.

WASHINGTON, June 15. The navy is to have three sea-going torpedo boats with the almost incredible speed of 26 nautical miles per hour.

By an act of Congress, approved March 2 1895, provision was made for the construction of these vessels, not to exceed in individual cost the sum of $175,000. As governmental superintendence, preparation of plans, and the providing and installing of ordnance outfit must be compassed by that appropriation, the bidding basis will be assumed, no doubt, to fall somewhere near $150,000, and the present cheapness of material makes it possible to get them constructed within that margin.

The boats will have twin screws, each actuated by its own triple-expansion engine, working in a separate water-tight compartment. These engines will be of the vertical inverted cylinder direct acting triple expansion type, each with a high pressure cylinder 14½ inches diameter, an intermediate pressure cylinder 23 inches diameter and two low pressure cylinders each 25¾ inches diameter, the stroke of all pistons being 18 inches.

The indicated horse-power of propelling engines will be about 3200, when the engines are making 395 revolutions per minute, which it is estimated will give the vessel a speed of about 26 knots.

The high pressure cylinder will be aft in the starboard engine and forward in the port engine, and the low pressure cylinders will be forward in the starboard engine and aft in the port engine. The main valves will be worked by means of cranks on a shaft parallel to the main engine shaft and geared to that shaft.

All the main valves will be piston valves, there being one for each high pressure, two for each intermediate pressure, and two for each low pressure cylinder. Each main piston will have one piston rod, with a crosshead working in a slipper guide.

The framing of the engine will consist of vertical forged steel columns well stayed by diagonal braces. The engine bed plates will be of plate steel supported on wrought steel keelson plates built in the vessel. The crank shafts will be made in one section and will be hollow.

There will be two condensers made entirely of composition and sheet brass. Each will have a cooling surface of about 1,280 square feet. Each main engine will have a two-cylinder, double-acting air pump of the Bailey pattern driven directly from the main shaft. The circulating pumps will be of the centrifugal type, one for each condenser. The propellers will be right and left, of manganese bronze. They will have a diameter of about two feet and a pitch of about 7½ feet.

There will be three water tube boilers constructed for a working pressure of 250 pounds per square inch. Two boilers will be placed in a water tight compartment forward of the engines, with a fire room between them, and the other will be placed in a separate water tight compartment abaft the engines. The total grate surface will be about 143 square feet, and the total heating surface about 7 865 square feet.

There will be three smoke pipes, one large blower for the after boiler and one large and two smaller ones for the forward boilers.

The weight of all the machinery and boilers, including auxiliaries and heaters and water in the boilers, condensers and pipes, and such stores and spare parts as may be carried on board when fully equipped will not exceed 92 tons. The normal coal supply will be 12 tons, with a bunker capacity, however for 60 tons.

The boats will have no search lights, but will be lighted throughout by electricity, and forced draught for the boilers will be induced by blowers. The living spaces will be well ventilated without resorting to artificial methods. The principal dimensions are:

Length, on load water line	170 feet
Beam, extreme, on load water line	17 feet
Draught, mean, normal	5 feet 6 inches
Displacement normal	180 tons
Indicated horse power	3,200
Speed in knots an hour	26

All parts must be of domestic manufacture, and bids are asked for under two classes. Class 1 embraces bids upon the plans and specifications prepared by the Navy Department, while class 2 embodies boats to be constructed in accordance with the designs of the bidder—the essential requirements of the government's design being assured.

POLICE PREVENT FIGHT.

Dixon and Erne not Allowed to Have Their Bout

NEW YORK, June 15. That the attitude of the authorities toward the management of the Seaside Athletic Club was not without its effect on the public was plainly manifest by the size of the audience at Coney Island to-night, scarcely 1000 people being present in the arena at the opening bout—that of young Corbett, of San Francisco, and Eddie Pierce, of New York. In the third round Corbett got in a right hand punch on the jaw and knocked Pierce down and out. The police, under Capt Clayton, immediately clambered through the ropes and arrested the principals and seconds.

The seconds for Corbett were Billy Gallagher, Billy Delaney and Jim McCabe, while Pierce was seconded by Daniel Corcoran, Jimmy Rose and Archie Hadden. Jim Hurst, the referee, and Bob Stoll, the timekeeper, were also arrested.

The police refused to allow the Dixon-Erne bout to go on at first, but after a few moments decided to reconsider, and at 9 20 Erne entered the ring, followed by Dixon.

Fred Burns stepped into the ring at 9 25 and announced that Dixon and Erne were willing to fulfil their contracts, but as the police refused to allow the bout to proceed, there would be no contest. Dixon's manager, Tom O'Rourke, then said:

"I am here with my man ready to proceed if the club will undertake to give bonds protecting my man in the courts."

On behalf of the club, "Sparrow" Robertson said it was ready to protect the men, but the police would not allow the bout to go on. Billy Newman said, on behalf of Erne, that they were ready to go on, under the club's guarantee, in spite of the officers.

After a consultation of Kennedy, the club manager, and Newman and O'Rourke, O'Rourke called for Parson Davies to act as referee, Hurst having been taken to the station house. Davies stepped into the ring and Dixon and Erne proceeded to strip.

Thereupon Inspector Murphy and Capt Clayton stepped into the ring and said they would arrest the men the moment they stood in the centre. Announcer Burns said that the club would assume all legal responsibility for the boxing, but the officers would not allow the bout to proceed.

The men then shook hands and O'Rourke said the crowd could get their money back at 40 Court street. The principals and managers left the ring and the spectators filed out.

A TRAIN WRECKED.

Engine and Cars Piled up in a Heap.

Large Money Loss Caused by General Wreckage.

Several Persons Badly Injured but no Lives Lost.

NEW HAVEN, Conn, June 16. The New York Sunday newspaper train, due here at 4 20, was completely wrecked in the railroad yard this morning. There were four cars on the track and all but the last car were derailed. The engine was turned completely about and thrown on its side. Matthew C Higgins, the engineer, and Fireman Wm W Chappell were injured.

It is not known what caused the smash up, but it is supposed that the train, said to have been running 55 miles an hour, was too great for the very sharp curve at the "cross-over" at the point where the accident occurred. The reason the train was going so fast while nearing the depot was that the air brakes refused to work. Engineer Higgins whistled for brakes for several hundred feet and so great was the momentum of the train that the hand brakes were of no avail.

When the cross over was reached there was a general breaking up of the train. Fireman Chappell was seriously but not dangerously bruised. Engineer Higgins' left knee cap was shattered and his left leg was broken below the knee. He sustained numerous body bruises.

The tracks for three hundred feet or more were torn up. There was great damage to the switching system. The money loss will be very great. No delay in traffic was caused.

AN OVERHAULING.

German Ministers Recalled Owing to Disgracing German Diplomacy.

BERLIN, June 16. Reports in circulation yesterday and generally credited in diplomatic circles assert that M Herbett, the French ambassador, will leave his post immediately after the close of Kiel festivities and that the German minister at Pekin and Ambassadors at St. Petersburg and Paris have been recalled.

The reason given for this action was that the Emperor has determined to overhaul all the embassies and ministers which have been concerned in the disgrace into which German diplomacy has been thrown.

Rosebery Anxious to Retire

LONDON, June 15. Many have been the assertions and denials that Prime Minister Rosebery was anxious to lay down the cares of office, but the first authoritative statement was made yesterday when Lord Rosebery confessed in a speech in the Clerkenwell district both his desire to retire from the premiership and that the time was near when the government would be overthrown. He said among the many castles in the air in which he indulged was one for the day when he could be released from his post. This day, he added, was not remote, though its nearness might be over estimated.

He said: "I am making preparations for a long rest from official work after parliament rises. I intend to take a long absence from England and shall have time to return to my old studies." The same feeling of conviction of the party in coming elections pervades the liberals. Unless some thought such as the political resurrection of Mr Gladstone should re-animate the party, they will enter the campaign so dispirited that their defeat will be an overwhelming disaster.

ALPHONSE DAUDET

A Slow Writer, and He Is Never Satisfied With His Work

Alphonse Daudet thus describes his method of writing a book: "I write slowly, very slowly, and revise and revise. I am never satisfied with my work. My novels I always write myself. I never could dictate a novel. As to my plays, I used formerly to dictate them. I had a certain talent in my legs, just as Napoleon had a certain genius in the legs of his soldiers. My books go through many processes. To begin with, I fill my notebooks. Each note as it is used is scratched out in blue or red pencil. From these written notes and the tablets of my memory—'the delta of my memory'—I write out in copybooks the first copy of my novel.

"I write this first copy on alternate pages of my copybooks, and leave the opposite sheet blank. When the book is finished in its rough state I rewrite it page by page on the blank sheets. The page on the right is the amended copy of the page on the left. Then my wife looks at this second copy and suggests to me what improvements might be made. I note these down.

"Then I rewrite the whole book again with the joy of a schoolboy who feels that a wearisome task is ended. So that, apart from my notes, I write each manuscript three times over, and if I could do so I would write it as many times more, for, as I have said, I am never satisfied with my work. But I am very irregular in my way of working. Sometimes I work 18 hours a day and day by day."—Rockland (Me.) Tribune.

The Missing Birds.

The bluebirds, yellow birds and blackbirds seem to have disappeared from western New York this year. Reports from careful ornithologists in many counties show that these birds have not appeared this spring as usual. Walter Burke of Batavia writes: "Where are the blackbirds? These birds in past years congregated in large numbers in a little grove near my residence and filled the air with their melodious singing, but now it is all hushed and still."

The Livingston Republican says: "The absence of bluebirds has been commented on by several papers, and, come to think of it, we haven't noticed any bluebirds or yellow birds either, but the orioles are flashing through the foliage in considerable numbers and occasionally trilling a few bars of song."—Buffalo Enquirer.

Reserve In Death Notices.

One notices more and more with every year how the age is oftener and oftener dropped from death announcements. This is in strict accordance with the growing reserve of the individual who keeps his private affairs to himself more closely, even in matters of no direct importance. It is odd that such a private feeling should wax stronger side by side with the greater publicity of one's affairs through the wider notice taken of them in the press generally with society and other mention once undreamed of.—Philadelphia Press.

BRIDGE GAVE WAY.

Number of Persons Injured at Grand Rapids.

Crowd on the Structure Thrown into the Channel Below.

In the Fall of Twenty Feet Severe Injuries Were Sustained.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich, June 15. Part of the Chicago & West Michigan bridge over the steamboat channel in the southern part of this city gave way at 10 30 A M and seven persons were injured, one perhaps fatally. Piles were being driven to strengthen the bridge, which is an approach to the main bridge over the Grand river. A freight train was on the bridge proper and its crew and about 25 spectators were on the railing and footpath when the latter gave way letting the crowd into the channel 20 feet below.

ONE HEAD USHER.

The Ways Wherein He Differs From Others of His Calling

It is as old as the Proverbs that the cobbler's children are always poorly shod.

The restaurant man goes home for dinner and the saloon man is a total abstainer.

The druggist may prescribe the cure and the railway man travel with far greater luxury than the traveler. The street car conductor will get a day off so he can take a long walk.

A more remarkable case than any of these is that of the head usher at the theatre and on the street car. Probably every play going Chicagoan knows him. The title of head usher does him an injustice. He is in like a host or the chief of a reception committee.

There are head ushers who pounce upon you, grab the coupon and then throw you back into your family behind the seat. "First aisle to the right."

There are other head ushers who tell you to hurry up or step lively. They give loud warning that all are is must be ready.

They shout. He is the head usher constantly distracted by the immense responsibility which the whole theatre is resting upon them.

As soon as it is stepped in the greatest ... into a box office ... usher he begins to manage ... owns the house ... part of the ... calm polite attentive ...

No matter how ... pour in ... comes receives ... hands.

He doesn't shout or grab ... small children ... afraid of him.

The most remarkable thing about this model master of ceremonies ... is that he knows very little about the play or plays.

The other evening when the house was crowded and the performance was being received with noisy approval a man who came in to the foyer between acts remarked to him: "Well it's a funny show."

"I dare say," he replied, "the house seems to like it."

"Didn't you see it?"

"No. I was out here all the time."

"Is that so. Don't you ever go in to see the performances?"

"Oh no. My duties keep me here. In the 15 years that I have been in this position I have never seen a performance."

At first the man would hardly believe it but it was a fact, just the same.—Chicago Record.

Fortune

"Say," said the deputy, "I put No. 711 on the treadmill eight hours ago as a punishment, and I'll be dinged if he ain't goin on just as chipper and happy as can be."

"Why, of course," said the prison warden in tones of disgust. "Didn't you know the feller was sent here for bicycle stealing? This is just the thing right in his line."—Indianapolis Journal.

A substitute shines bright as a king until a king be by, and then his state empties itself as doth an inland brook into the main of waters.—Shakespeare.

Second Summer.

Most Critical Year in the Baby's Existence.

At No Time So Liable to Sudden Intestinal Disorders.

The Earliest Victims to Cholera Infantum.

Extraordinary Care With Baby's Food Essential.

Weaning babies in summer is attended with peril when heat and improper feeding conspire to derange the sensitive stomach.

As warm weather comes on children require the most wholesome nourishing and palatable diet possible and lactated food should be in the hands of every mother. Sudden changes of the atmosphere are dangerous above all things to infants whose digestive apparatus is out of order and the use of lactated food is especially to be commended because of its corrective influence in cases of irritability of the stomach.

Often too the mother who has tried hard to nurse her child but growing weak and losing her own appetite until she is nearly worn out and finds now that she must wean her infant while the days and nights are growing hotter and more and more debilitating can rest as thousands of mothers have done before upon lactated food.

The infant will like it and grow strong and happy upon it. The composition of lactated food is simply this. Its basis is sugar of milk with it is combined the digestive elements of wheat, barley and oats producing a pure food which meets every requirement of the growing child.

There is no secret about it. It is the food physicians use in their own families and most generally prescribe.

Thousands of mothers testify to the fact that lactated food has done what nothing else could do—saved the lives of their little ones.

No better evidence can be offered of its superiority than the many instances in which fretful, peevish and sleepless babies as soon as put on lactated food sleep all night and wake up laughing. The happy change physicians say is solely due to the superior nourishing and satisfying qualities of this best of foods.

It must be borne in mind that lactated food is so inexpensive that it is within the reach of every family.

The Terms of Reconciliation.

Those peculiarly constituted people who think the erection of monuments in the North in honor of men who fought to destroy the Government is really essential to the "reconciliation" of the ex-rebels who have been permitted to practically control the politics of the country for a large portion of the time since the close of the war, ought to find some instructive reading in the expressions of Southern papers and Southern politicians of late. An Iowa Union soldier having been silly enough to go to Georgia to eulogize the Christian manliness and heroism of Lee and Jackson, but who failed to eulogize their associate and leader Jeff Davis, brought down upon himself the denunciation of a leading Georgia paper in style that the New York Tribune discusses as follows under the caption of "A Georgia Face-Slapper":

"In dull times, when there is no actual war going on and no real fighting there is nothing that stirs the blood and kindles the emotion into rapturous sensations so much as language, particularly if it is [illegible] and energetic, bristling with threatening punctuation and glowing with red corpuscles. It is in such times that only courageous and high spirited persons take it upon themselves to relieve the monotony and break the prevailing dull with the audible or legible expression of a willingness to do violence to [illegible] upon any convenient opportunity. In as much as they hinder intellectual stagnation and not infrequently [illegible] from the communities in which they dwell the corroding effect of the [illegible] of a long peace, they are not un[illegible] of praise. Such a benefactor [illegible] this point of view, is the Editor of the Atlanta (Ga.), Constitution, which newspaper we perceive by a headline, is the official organ of the city of Atlanta. By another headline it appears that the [illegible] name is Benjamin M. Blackburn. We congratulate the city of Atlanta on having an official organ edited by Mr. Blackburn, who appears from recent [illegible] utterances to be a gentleman of high but indomitable courage, great command of language and a warm heart.

Mr. Blackburn had occasion recently to [illegible] upon a Memorial Day address delivered at Marietta, Ga., by General Walter of Iowa, who fought on the [illegible] in the late unpleasantness [illegible] with great courage and no [illegible].

General Walter having eulogized [illegible] Christian manliness and heroism of [illegible] Jackson and paid a high tribute [illegible] Longstreet [illegible] the [illegible] alluding to Jefferson Davis as [illegible] in the war of secession [illegible] who had never spoken [illegible] word in favor of reconciliation [illegible] Mr. Blackburn to say that the [illegible] no eulogy from lips that [illegible] with venom and insincerity [illegible] and incomparable [illegible] as there is a feeling in [illegible] of such speakers of damnable hatred toward her loftiest son, the [illegible] patriot that ever graced the [illegible] Jefferson Davis." In this mild [illegible] he proceeds to say that if [illegible] what is in the [illegible] of thousands, yes, tens of thousands [illegible] overwhelming majority [illegible] that Jefferson Davis [illegible] and they are [illegible] cowardly liars, who would [illegible] like the cravens that they [illegible] sublime courage and [illegible] the right. This is a trifle [illegible] the observed that [illegible] saturated with emotion [illegible] rather general in its nature and in [illegible] of the late war Mr. Blackburn, [illegible] courage [illegible] for [illegible] these stir[illegible] words.

[illegible] is willing [illegible] kindness with kindness, but [illegible] alludes [illegible] Davis as an arch-traitor we [illegible] publicly denounce him as a [illegible] his reference is made in public [illegible] him [illegible] the [illegible] personally. We [illegible] toward the [illegible] bastards."

[illegible] may be a mistake [illegible] the face of the [illegible] with the consciousness [illegible] cannot help feeling [illegible] attention and pos[illegible] depression in business and [illegible] stocks by the imminence of a [illegible] war. This is our position, and we [illegible] understood. And [illegible] is the sole [illegible] article, that [illegible] Mr. Benjamin M. Black[burn] [illegible] Atlanta, Ga., editor of the of[ficial] [illegible] that city may be univer[sally] [illegible]. In view of its import[ance] [illegible] desires to give it the [illegible] circulation. The war [illegible] thirty years ago. It begin [illegible] more than [illegible] ago. Jefferson Davis [illegible] the custom ary [illegible] of the [illegible] States [illegible] was the head of a [illegible] making war against [illegible] States. That was well no[illegible] we [illegible] who [illegible] before Jefferson Davis' sublime courage and devotion to [the] right, dare now to take the risk of [illegible] calling it treason—but [illegible] on the whole was it? It came near [illegible] a dead issue until Mr. Blackburn's [illegible] declaration of war but now it has [illegible] vitality.

"What will Mr. Blackburn permit it to be called without slapping anybody's face? And suppose Mr. Blackburn does slap somebody's face who expresses an honest opinion contrary to his own upon what Mr. Blackburn considers a controverted point of constitutional law; would that settle the law point or define the act? Or suppose the slappee in such case should slap back—for we have known persons born as far North as Vermont and Maine who would be so foolhardy as to slap back even if the slapper were the editor of an official newspaper endowed with a warm heart and high spirit and great command of language—would that settle anything definitely? Or even if the slapper should thereupon proceed to shoot the slappee full of holes in conclusion of the dispute, we do not clearly see that the legal status of Mr. Jefferson Davis before, during or after the war would be materially affected by it. Just there is where, as it seems to us, the ineffectiveness of face-slapping comes in.

"We give Mr. Blackburn great credit for the courageous and forcible style in which he expresses his views, as well as for the magnificent manner in which he manifests his utter disregard for his own personal safety in the advocacy of his opinions. We also award him great praise for enlivening an extremely dull period with unexpected but no less welcome ebullience. Nevertheless, we feel compelled to say that, in our humble judgment, the great constitutional question whether or not Jefferson Davis was a traitor would not be definitely and finally settled by slapping anybody's face."

Is Kentucky a Doubtful State?

Colonel Henry Watterson, who arrived in Chicago Wednesday from Louisville, on his way to attend the commemoration exercises of the Iowa State University as the orator of the occasion, said for publication:

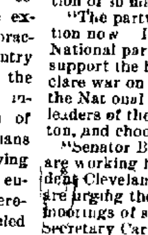

"There is just one thing that can swing the great State of Kentucky into the Republican column this year, and that is the Democratic party. If the Democratic State Convention, ten days from now, declares in favor of free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, or any other low ratio, from 25,000 to 40,000 Democratic voters will support the Republican ticket. Everybody knows what the defection of so many Democrats means.

"The party cannot straddle the question now. It must either stand by the National party platform of 1892, and support the honest dollar, or it must declare war on the principles adopted by the National Administration and the real leaders of the party who are at Washington, and choose the cheap dollar.

"Senator Blackburn and Mr. Hardin are working hard for free silver. President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle are urging the State to stick fast to the moorings of safe Democratic principles. Secretary Carlisle will resume his tour of the State next Friday.

"The Republican State Convention of Kentucky, held last week, was a representative gathering which any man might be proud of. Thousands of Democrats in Kentucky are already dissatisfied and would eagerly seize on a free silver plank as a pretext for bolting the ticket. The mission of the Democratic party is gone when its representatives cast aside its principles. If Blackburn and Hardin are right, and Cleveland and Carlisle wrong, we are at the threshold of a great social upheaval. The Populist banner is the black flag under which all the elements of disaffection should array themselves. Blackburn and Hardin are too mossbacked to lead such a motley host."

These printers, it is rumored, have also been indicted.

BECAME NOISY

A Drunken Onlooker Ejected from Illinois House

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 15. While a stormy scene over the attempted passage of the Crawford Consolidated Railway bill was being enacted in the House, late last night a drunken onlooker becoming boisterous, was ordered out. Sergeant-at-Arms was repulsed for a time and it looked as though there would be serious trouble. A dozen members sprang to the officer's aid and after a struggle the intoxicated man was ejected from the building.

SUPPOSED MURDER

A Retired Business Man Discovered with his Head Badly Mutilated.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 15. Charles W. Henry, 72 years old, a retired business man of 95 South Portland avenue, was found dead with his face covered with gashes and blood, at the foot of the basement stairs in his house yesterday afternoon. All the indications pointed to murder and the police of this city were looking for William Henry, 31 years old, a son of the murdered man who, it is said, threatened to get even with the old man for turning him out of the house.

About 8.20 this morning William Henry walked into the fourth precinct station house and gave himself up. He told the sergeant that he saw by the morning papers that the police wanted him for murder so he called to give himself up. He says he did not know sooner that he was wanted or that his father was dead. He was locked up.

RAILROAD MATTERS

Proposition to Lease the Concord & Montreal Railroad

BOSTON, June 15. Director C E Morrison, of the Concord & Montreal Railroad Company says The directors of the C & M have received an offer to lease the B & L or B & M to a term of 91 years, not 99 as reported. The B & L lease expires in 91 years. The offer was not approved by the directors, although a committee was appointed, consisting of Messrs Pillsbury and Morrison and B A Kimball to confer with the Boston & Maine regarding the terms of the lease. No committee meeting has been arranged for as yet

If a lease satisfactory to the directors can be agreed upon it will be submitted to the stockholders at a special meeting to be called for June 29. No terms have as yet been agreed upon, but the statement that an equivalent of seven per cent will be paid on the capital stock is practically correct

At the June 29th meeting a proposition will be made to stockholders to increase the capital stock, but the amount as yet has not been determined or the price at which it will be sold to stockholders. The increase has nothing to do with the Boston and Maine lease but is to pay, among other things, the Manchester and Lawrence award

The Boston & Maine people once offered the Concord & Montreal Road at 10 per cent, guarantee on their stock, but this was declined. The officials of the Boston & Maine Road are now very confident that the proposed leases will be consummated

A T Kemp, of New York, has arrived at Bar Harbor, where he intends to pass the summer with his wife and children, who are to follow in the course of the week. Mr Kemp took with him two car-loads of carriages and one car containing ten horses, five of which are prize-winners at New York and Philadelphia shows. In reply to a reporter who questioned him with regard to the transportation of horses, Mr Kemp said "The removal of horses is always attended with danger, more or less, but with good men accompanying them, there need not be much anxiety. I have five experienced men with these ten that I am taking through, and I always feel more confident of their safety when travelling by rail than by sea. The charges too on this road are not excessive, $300 was all I paid for the special car through from New York to Bar Harbor. I think, however, that in the future greater facilities will be available in the mode of horse travel in this country"

President Whitman announced the other day a very pleasant piece of news to Colby. Prof Hall has received a notice to appear at the Probate Court at Cambridge Mass, with the heirs at law of B F Fitz, of that place, where the will of the deceased would be probated. It is expected that the legacy will be quite large. Mr Fitz was for a number of years a member of the board of trustees of Colby

The Eastport Sentinel tells of a bicyclist of that city who, while out riding in the suburbs the other day, lost his pocket book containing $16 in money. Three days later happening to remember dismounting at a certain place on the road, he mounted his bicycle and wheeled to the spot when there was his missing property in the grass, just where it had fallen from his pocket.

A THEORY.

Why do the violins shudder so
When across them is drawn the bow
Sob for anguish and wild despair?
Human souls are imprisoned there.

Souls are shut in the violins,
They are the souls of Philistines,
But the Philistines, row on row,
Soulless sit and they do not know

But they brandish their eyeglasses,
Stare at each other's evening dress
Scrutinize form or brilliant hue,
Say, "Is it rouge or is it true?"

"Some one was flat a semitone
And how stout the soprano's grown!
Isn't the bass a dear? And, oh
Do look at Mrs So-and-so!"

Still the musicians play serene
As though Philistines had not been,
But their souls in the violins
Mourn so bitterly for their sins.

Call them wildly and call in pain,
Call them with longing deep and vain,
And with infinite tenderness
Since they can give them no redress

Since not one of them is aware
Hers is her and his soul is there,
In the music's divinest chord
Making melody to the Lord.

So how often in life and art
Soul and body must dwell apart—
Great is the master's soul no doubt—
Twenty Philistines go without.

Are we body or are we soul?
Little matter upon the whole
Human soul in the violin
Save me at last a Philistine!

SPOONING PARTIES

How These Commendable Aids to Matrimony Should Be Conducted

"Spooning" parties are popular in some quarters. They take their name from a good old English word which was intended to ridicule the alleged fantastic actions of a young man or a young woman who is in love, but for some reason which no one ever could explain every body pokes fun at the lover. In fact, that unhappy character is never heroic in real life, no matter what great gobs of heroism are piled up at him on the stage, and in all the romantic story books. The girl in love and the boy in love are said to be "spoony"

When a spooning party is given, the committee in charge of the event receives a spoon from each person who attends, or else presents each guest with a spoon. These spoons are fancifully dressed in mull and fine lace and are mated either by the similarity of costume or by a distinguishing ribbon. The girls and boys whose spoons are mates are expected to take care of each other during the continuance of the social gathering

Of course the distribution of the spoons is made with the greatest possible care as to fairness, the aim being to so place them as to properly fit the case of the young people to whom they are presented. The parties are usually given by the young people of some neighborhood where the personal preference of each spoony is well known and they are the source of no end of fun. It is possible also that they serve as aids to matrimony as well, and are therefore commendable since an avowal is made more easy to a diffident swain after he feels that his passion is not a secret, but that his own friends have sympathy ... [and] ... nos for a "spoony" maiden is known to his friends and enemies on the committee which dispenses the spoons. It may be mentioned that after the spoons have been distributed among the guests each couple retires for consultation regarding the reasons which caused the award of mated spoons in their case. This consultation is known by the name of spooning —St Louis Republic

REVIEW OF TRADE

A Slight Upward Tendency Noted

Bradstreet's says The recent check to activity in general trade, taking the country as a whole, which followed the severe and unusual frosts in May, has begun to register itself in relatively fewer upward spurts of prices for staples and moderately smaller totals of bank clearings. The exception to a halt is found in the remarkable exhibition of strength by iron and steel. Cotton, leather, wheat, railway and other securities have each represented a season of active demand and advancing prices. None of them are outdone by iron and steel which, without special orders from railroads and other large companies, have again advanced all along the line. Industry is undoubtedly in better position to-day than for years

Bank clearings the last week have dropped to $1,000,000,000, a falling off of 11 per cent of the total, still 21 per cent larger than the second week in June 1894 though 25 per cent less than in the panic year, and 12 per cent smaller than a like total in 1892

Advances in prices of staples seem practically confined to a few varieties of cotton goods (with agents) to Bessemer pig iron, other varieties of crude iron steel billets, bar iron, with a prediction of an early jump of $2 per ton for steel rails

No change generally, but firm quotations are announced for cotton, prints, wool, coffee, sugar, flour, coal, lumber, live hogs and cattle. Outsiders have speculated in wool somewhat, and have increased the prices which are firmer

Sales at Boston, New York, Chicago, Cincinnati, January 1 are 12 per cent heavier this year than last. Noteworthy decreases in prices are for wheat, 11⅛ cents; corn, 1½ cents, oats, ⅛ cents, lard, 3 cents, pork, 25 cents

Railroad earnings for May reflect an improvement in general business. The total May earnings of 125 companies, with 95,991 miles of lines $38,082,267, an increase over May, 1894, of 6.5 per cent, a gain in April of only 4.5 per cent over 1894. The earnings of the 125 roads for five months aggregate $184,587,590 a gain of 2.5 per cent over a like period of last year a period which showed a decrease of 14.2 per cent from the year before

Exports of wheat (flour as wheat) from both coasts of the United States last week show a surprising decrease, the total amounting to only 1,781,737 bushels against 2,991,000 the week before, and 2,254,000 in the week of a year ago, 3,831,000 two years ago, 3,336,000 three years ago

Boston, Montreal, and Baltimore report very much smaller shipments of wheat than last week, Newport News much less flour. The total wheat and flour shipments appear to have been the smallest since the second week in June, 1891

At the larger eastern cities the clothing trade reports a good demand and a promising outlook, notably at Baltimore. Woolen machinery in Rhode Island is only fairly employed, the cotton mills in that State and Massachusetts have a larger number of orders. Some Philadelphia woolen manufacturers report a large volume of business in sight

Increased purchases in general lines at Pittsburg are attributed to the recent very general advances in wages in manufacturing industries. There have been few changes in the trade situation at the South, which are in the direction of an improved demand, principally in dry goods, shoes, hats, and other seasonable goods, with a prospect for a good fall trade should the crop prospects remain as at present

Gains in the volume of business are reported from Charleston, Nashville and Galveston. Reports are received of industrial activity at Detroit, Chicago and St Louis in iron and steel, particularly at the last two cities. Better crop prospects are in the regions tributary to the Points to Kansas City (except wheat in this instance), to St. Paul, to Minneapolis and Sioux Falls, where trade has been satisfactory in many lines and the outlook for all business bright

Lack of commercial activity at Omaha is due to the farmers being busy in the fields. The crop outlook in Nebraska and South Dakota is excellent. At Cleveland, Louisville and Milwaukee there has been practically no change within a week.

Latest evidence of enterprise from Tacoma is a new packing house to start July 1 to supply the Russian Government with several thousand barrels of beef.

Coal trade at Seattle is growing, over 31,000 tons being shipped thence in May. The Oregon fruit crop will be a large one, collections and trade at Portland are improving.

The new steamship line from New Orleans to Colon has diverted large California wine shipments from rail to the Panama route. There were 232 business failures reported in the United States last week against 227 in the week of a year ago.

Thackeray's Joke.

While Thackeray was delivering in Boston his lectures on the "Four Georges" he was a constant guest of Mr George Ticknor, the author of a work on Spanish literature. Though the two men were great cronies, they disagreed on many a point.

Ticknor was small, but combative. Thackeray towered above him and generally managed to have the last word. Mr Healy, in his "Reminiscences of a Portrait Painter," tells a good story of Thackeray's humorous way of ending a discussion

The discussion had been very lively—it was about some point in history—when Thackeray, suddenly putting a hand on each shoulder of his host and looking down upon him, exclaimed

"It would never do for two such broken nosed old codgers as we are to fall out and quarrel"

A general laugh ended the dispute. Thackeray, when a boy, had his nose broken by accident, whereas Ticknor, by a freak of nature, had a queer little pug nose that had a broken look —Youth's Companion

Negro Burial Societies.

The burial societies are numerous. It is the ambition of every colored man and woman to have a ceremonious funeral, and this is got by pooling their interests. The dues of the burial societies are much larger than those of the matrimonial associations, being usually $1, and when a member dies there is a fund of $300 or $400 to buy his casket and furnish flowers and carriages and pay the expenses of a band. It is usual to hold all funerals on Sunday, too, so as to secure a larger attendance —Savannah Letter in Chicago Record

BACK INTO FOURTH PLACE.

We Defeat the Pawtuckets Very Handily—Magnificent Exhibition of Ball Playing by Bangor and Great Pitching by Drinkwater

The game on Saturday was a fine exhibition of ball playing and up to the 7th inning was sufficiently close as to cause great uncertainty in foretelling the result. It was a pleasure to witness such a contest, full, as it was, of sharp plays, some timely batting on our side and good, clean work all around. The Bangors played world beater form and no team in this league would have been in it for a minute with them. The only error made by the home team was a slight fumble by Deady. The errors on the part of the Pawtuckets were not very costly and the Bangors won on their merits, batting when hits were needed to swell the score. Henry, Judd, Deady, Haywood and Hayes made hits when they meant runs, all but Haywood bringing in two runs by their hits each time.

Drinkwater pitched his first game for us on the home grounds and his work was gilt edged in every particular in the box. He has excellent control, good speed, likewise curves and does a good deal of brain work. His pitching was one of the best exhibitions of the art seen on these grounds for a long time and Bangor certainly has a find in him. He doesn't appear to be more than the average batter and not a very fast runner, but he is a terror in the box.

The Pawtuckets have not run up against such a snag for a long time. They haven't made less than twelve or thirteen hits in nine games but Saturday they secured only four off Drinkwater and one of those was a scratch. Meakin did good work but Bangor had great luck in getting hits when needed. In the last inning, Henry, O'Brien, Judd and Deady made hits consecutively, Judd's being a two bagger, three runs resulting. In the 3d Hayes sent in Deady and Haywood with his rattling three-bagger and Hayes scored on Drinkwater's single

In regard to features, Bobby Moore made a magnificent stop of a terrific grounder, Judd made a difficult catch of a high fly which was whirled about by the wind, Hayes made some excellent foul fly catches, Judd did star work at short all the afternoon, Haywood was in his usual fine condition, Henry made some good catches and O'Brien was the same old standby, reliable with a big R. Hayes led the batting with two with a total of four, Judd tripping along at his heels with two with a total of three

For the visitors Bierbaur made a great stop of a terrific ground hit right over the bag, one of Sharrott's biffs. Hannivan, Lang and Davis made a pretty double play. Yeager caught an excellent game and threw to second like a shot

Lezotte umpired a good game for the most part, only one or two decisions being at all questionable and he may have been right on those. The occasions have not been frequent when fault could be found with him and we have found much to commend in his work in the difficult position of umpire

The game last Saturday was the sixth game of last season and this when Meakin has pitched the full game for Pawtucket against Bangor and Saturday was the first time our aggregation has defeated the Pawtuckets when he has pitched. In those games our team has made 43 hits and 34 runs off him.

Notes

The New Bedfords play against the Bangors this afternoon and a hot game is expected

The New Bedfords arrived in the city yesterday, making three teams here at once, the Pawtuckets remaining over Sunday.

Pawtucket and Bangor are having a great see saw for fourth place. We wish Manager Bacon success but draw the line at having our team crowded into fifth place by his aggregation

Umpire Harry Miller, of the New England League, who is officiating on the grounds at Augusta, Gardiner and Waterville, and who umpired at Waterville Saturday, arrived in this city Saturday evening and passed Sunday here. He goes to Gardiner this morning to umpire the Kennebec-Fall River games

The game to have been played at Orono Saturday by the Maine State College and Maine Central Institute teams did not occur as the M C I team did not come over. They sent word that Mildram, their pitcher, was unable to accompany the team, so they preferred to cancel the game.

The Lewistons have asked President Murnane to remove Umpire Connelly from Lewiston

Patterson, the Colby University pitcher, has joined Augusta. In Friday's game he made 1 run, 1 hit and 5 put outs in center field. He was signed for pitcher, however.

Portland has secured big Mike Sullivan as pitcher. Sullivan's terms to Lewiston were $250 a month.

Portland doesn't propose to give Dunn a trial

Bedge, the Bowdoin College pitcher, will be tried again to-day by Lewiston.

Telegraphic Notes

In the suit of Sarah A ... against A M Bates and Walley in the United States Circuit Court, Boston ... B Walley junior member of the firm Friday made a flat denial of the insinuation that he had made improper use of the power conferred upon him by the consent of Mr Preble by asserting that to the best of his recollection he never opened or even went to the box in the vaults during the time covered by his power of attorney. Henry M Bates senior member of the firm testified that he never knew Mrs Preble had any claim on the securities negotiated by the firm for Mr Preble also that Mr Preble's indebtedness to the firm was more than balanced by his collateral. Robert I Clapp to whom Mr Preble made a statement of the case when Senator Wadleigh was employed as counsel for Richard Ingersoll of the York county bank, Biddeford Me and Thos F Major, who was official stenographer at the trial of the suit in 1888, testified for the defence. Their statements were intended to overthrow the testimony of Edward Preble. The jury was dismissed at five o'clock after which Mr Hoar cited a few questions of law in the case for consideration of the case

The opinion of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in the case of the American Bell Telephone Company et al, appellants, v. the United States appellees, filed Friday afternoon an opinion written by Judge Putnam. The decree of the Circuit Court is reversed and the case remanded to that court with directions to dismiss the bill. This is the case in which the validity of the Berliner patent is involved

The annual soldier reunion under the management of Irvin Dalzell began Friday morning at the Fair Grounds in Caldwell Ohio. The town was handsomely decorated and the stars and stripes were to be seen everywhere. On account of the intense heat the crowd was not as large as expected and much smaller than at the beginning of the former reunions held there. The opening address by Private Dalzell was responded to by Hon D. D. Taylor of Cambridge. A number of distinguished visitors arrived in the evening

Murtagh Hughes, Jr a fellow of unsavory reputation, and Joseph Kalaher, were looking for trouble last evening and were finally accommodated They connected with a plenty after a diligent search About 7 o'clock they drove up to the Bangor House and struck a man on the sidewalk then invited anybody and everybody, no weight, size or condition barred, to come on and fight

After a time they drove off and later went to the St James Hotel where they assaulted two peaceable young men attacking them without the least provocation Bullies are sure to meet the wrong—or rather right—men some day and this was the day Hughes and Kalaher were knocked down and humped royally and badly used up but they kept on fighting with bull dog persistency

Officers Fahey and Bike were sent for and when they arrested the bruisers they still showed fight and Kelaher struck Officer Baker in the face and disabled one hand but the bullies were landed in the police station and should receive the full penalty of the law in court

B. & A. HEARING

On the Question of the Extension of Time

For Building the Line Into Bangor from Oldtown.

Several Speakers Give Their Views on the Matter.

There was no Opposition to the Time Extension.

Committee Will Report to City Government Wednesday.

A public hearing before the City Government committee regarding the request of the Bangor & Aroostook Railroad Company for an extension of ten years time for the company to build its road from Oldtown into Bangor was held Saturday evening at the Common Council Room City Hall with a small attendance

Mayor Snow presided and Councilman A. F Stet on was chosen secretary. The Mayor stated the object of the meeting, which was to hear all who desired to be heard on either side of the question, and then invited those present to express their views

Hugh R. Chaplin, Esq, attorney for the Bangor & Aroostook Railroad Company, arose and said that the proposition of the B & A company and the reasons why it should be accepted by the City Government had been so much better covered in the communication of the general manager than anything he could say, that he should not speak upon that matter

He said that he had talked with many citizens and believed that the feeling was in favor of granting the request of the railroad company He referred to the provision in the lease of the Bangor & Piscataquis railroad by the Bangor & Aroostook regarding the building of the line into Bangor beginning this year and said that the B & A company wished to have the time extended ten years It was not that the city should give up any of its rights but simply that it should not compel the B & A company to build into the city for ten years

Mayor Snow then called upon Hon F O Beal who said that the interests of the city and those of the B & A company are identical, what is for the interest of one is for the interest of the other The B & A company had taken the city's railroad, had agreed to pay the interest as fast as it accumulated and also to build into Bangor It is for the interest of Bangor to have the B & A fulfil its pledges as far as it can for the B & A road is of great assistance to Bangor and the whole State in fact

Mr Beal said the proposition was to extend the time of building the line into Bangor ten years, but he was in favor of the city's relinquishing entirely the condition of compelling the B & A road to build into Bangor at any time He would ask of the company to relinquish the city's renewing the bonds The city was under mortgage to the Bangor & Piscataquis and it was burdensome and a black eye to the raising of money The city has no further right to issue bonds as the debt limit had been reached

The B & A company are repairing the B & P road and the chances are that the bonds on the road can be sold as readily as city bonds so there would be nothing gained by the city issuing bonds He would ask of the company to release the city from the obligation of reissuing bonds He did not believe that the building of the line into Bangor would be of any particular advantage, except in the expending of money during the building and if the work was done by Italians, as usually is the case, that would be no advantage

If the B & A did build into Bangor it was the proposition for the line to come up the Hampden road and to have the depot opposite Wood & Bishop's foundry The people in that vicinity would not care to live in a railroad yard Mr Beal in conclusion said that there was no need of extending the time for building it, for he believed that the city should relinquish the condition of the construction of the road to Bangor entirely

Mr J F Gerrity trusted that the city would see its way clear to extending the time as desired by the company The B & A railroad is of great benefit to the city and has very much improved the wholesale trade with Aroostook county He knew of enterprises which would never have been thought of had it not been for the building of the B & A road He didn't know of a single man who would have invested a dollar in the road if he thought it would be detrimental to the city, and he believed it would be short-sighted policy for the city to do anything to hamper the B & A company The company wanted to build north and if the same results were obtained it would be of more advantage than building into Bangor

C P Stetson, Esq, was called upon and said that he agreed with Mr Beal that the request of the B & A company be not only granted but that it be released from its obligation to build to Bangor If business requires it the company will build to Bangor, but if it does not the company should not be compelled to build It is a well known fact in railroad history that parallel lines prove disastrous to both companies and the advantage to the public is only temporary as the companies finally come to an agreement by which the old rates are restored He was interested in the European and North American railroad and felt an interest in the B & A

At the time of the lease he had felt that the condition for the building into Bangor was unjust. It would be disastrous to the B & A, Maine Central and European & North American and he thought that the building obligation cloud which hung over these companies and the property about the location of the depot if it should be built, should be entirely removed

Hon. J F Snow was called upon and said he was decidedly in favor of granting the request of the B & A company, as the interests of the company and the city are identical. At the time of the lease he did not see why the company should be compelled to build into Bangor. He was friendly to the road which had proven more of a success than was even hoped for.

Mr. Chaplin said that in regard to the proposition made by Mr. Beal and Mr. Stetson, while he was not perhaps authorized to say so, still he had no doubt but that the B & A. company would be glad to accept and be grateful to the city for it

The hearing was then adjourned and the committee held a meeting which was adjourned to this evening. The committee will report to a special meeting of the City Government which will be held next Wednesday evening.

A special train will leave Maine Central depot on Tuesday for Orono at 2 P. M. and will return at 10.30 P. M. to accommodate those from this city who wish to attend the president's reception and the commencement exercises at the Maine State College

TURNER AND HIS GUN

DOUBLE L ECK, THE COWBOY, AND HIS MODEST RECORD CLAIM.

How He Showed His Dislike For a Horseman Who Rode at a Trot—Finally His Spirit Was Conquered by a Mild Mannered Soldier With a Winchester.

Now and then a "bad man" tries to cultivate something which he mistakes for humor One of these devotees of levity used to haunt the cattle range of western Kansas, and every fall and spring he appeared in Dodge City at the general roundup Every time he came to town he left some proof of a facetious mind and was very sure of being talked about by every idle man and most of the busy ones who remained when the rush was over

His name was Eck Turner, though Dodge City will best remember him by the title "Double L Eck" the duplicated capital being Leonard & Loughran's brand, and he being one of their best riders. In fact Turner might have been foreman if he had cared for the position for he could ride well and there were few more expert with the rope and probably none who could bear fatigue and hardship more patiently than he

But the trouble was he wanted recompense for the dull life of a cowboy He didn't care for money Any wages going were acceptable to him But when the cattle got rounded up and there was half a day's escape from the tedium of labor Eck Turner wanted his fling And he always went into town and had it

Now, a foreman cannot do these things He must stay by the herd all the time, preserve a clear head and firm place in the saddle He is the representative of the owner—the custodian of much wealth—and dissipation is not to be thought of

One of Eck Turner's pet bits of humor was to pick out people whose appearance displeased him and shoot just near enough to them to express his sentiments He particularly disliked to see horsemen go by on the trot It was in a cowboy country and cowboys galloped whether or not they were in a hurry

And if the rider had a habit of "rising" in the stirrups as conventional trotters often do Eck Turner hated him violently So that when he came down Main street one day and saw a rather well dressed man go by trotting and "rising" with the motion of his horse Eck called general attention to the spectacle.

Really the trotter was not a very good horseman It was possible as Eck observed to "see daylight under him every time he rose in the saddle And the glimpses of that recurring daylight provoked Eck to a bit of pistol practice

"I bet" said he watching the rider and reaching for a large revolver pretty well back on his belt "I bet I can shoot between him and the saddle and never touch a feather"

He had been drinking in so decorous a manner as to be dangerous and so no one interfered The rider was half a block away when Eck fired and the bullet must have gone true for the rider passed on unconscious while a sign diagonally across the street was shattered by the shot

He tried it again later in the day and fortunately—miraculously—escaped the infliction of injury Dodge City talked about Double L Eck and his new joke all summer and in the autumn [illegible] in and tried it again

The first shot hit him [illegible] he hit a man in the leg and was very indignant because they would not give him [illegible] chance assuring [illegible] it was an accident [illegible] mount and trot [illegible] rising no higher [illegible] guaranteeing [illegible] five between [illegible] the drinks for the crowd

But it was the [illegible] about the other two shots [illegible] negotiations—[illegible] persistent [illegible] of his own [illegible] remained in his pocket

Eck thought it was [illegible] hallucination [illegible] into trouble When the wave of Texas fever swept over Kansas in 1885 killing off so many of the Kansas cattle a state law [illegible] which had [illegible] Eck Turner [illegible] He went farther west [illegible] the top off [illegible] Colorado Springs [illegible] fashion was two in his shirt [illegible] the man was wearing

At Las Vegas he took exception to the spattering sound occasionally made by an electric lamp and went about shooting the carbons in two till the city marshal engaged in repartee and shot off the end of Eck's thumb alleging as a sufficient reason the fact that no man with two good thumbs could be a real ly bad man Eck replied in kind and there were no applicants for the position the marshal's demise left vacant until it was known that Eck had left that region and gone to Arizona

At Fort Wingate he had the misfortune to shoot into an ambulance driven by a very mild mannered private soldier, who pulled up a winchester and crippled Eck for life destroying the usefulness of both shoulders and incidentally putting out his right eye

After that Eck Turner went to Flagstaff and developed a remarkable habit of winning at faro and taking care of his money He confessed to a record of five men slain but he was given credit for twice as many on account of his well known modesty and when he finally opened a boarding house for seamen in San Francisco he permitted all the turbulent habits of his cowboy life to drift away to forgetfulness —New York Herald

"E Pluribus Unum"

The circumstances attending the adoption of the legend "E Pluribus Unum" as the motto of the United States have never been fully explained by the historians It was probably used on coins—and some say upon early colonial flags—long before it was regularly recognized by the leading officials of the new republic The oldest coin bearing the motto in full is a colonial cent coined by New Jersey in the year 1786 The same year it appeared on a small medal recognized among the collectors of coins as 'the confederatio' This medal was a national token I believe, and was coined by authority of the general government It bore on one side 13 stars and a blazing sun the latter surrounded by the word 'Confederatio,' which gives it the name by which it is known to the numismatists

The words in the headline are undoubtedly from Virgil's "Moretum" a poem devoted to a description of a certain salad! In the rhyming recipe he gives instructions for mixing the proper herbs and pounding the same in a mortar until the various colors blend as one. Some one has very appropriately said that "the colonies were mixed in the mortar of the Revolution and came out as one homogeneous nation" — St. Louis Republic.

THE ANGELIC HUSBAND.

There are husbands who are pretty
There are husbands who are witty
There are husbands who in public are as smiling as the morn
There are husbands who are healthy
There are famous ones and wealthy
But the real angelic husband—well he's never yet been born

Some for strength of love are noted
Who are really so devoted
That whene'er their wives are absent they are lonesome and forlorn
And while now and then you'll find one
Who's a really good and kind one.
But the real angelic husband—oh he's never yet been born.

So the woman who is mated
To a man who may be rated
As pretty fair should cherish him forever and a day
For the real angelic creature
Perfect quite in every feature
He has never been discovered and he won't be so they say
